JCHD and hospitals will continue to vaccinate healthcare workers until Phase 1a is complete. Healthcare workers wanting vaccinated should work through their employer to be invited to an upcoming clinic. It is anticipated that the next Phase (“1b”) will not begin until at least late January. JCHD will release information later this week about individuals who will be eligible under the next two phases. Individuals who do not fall in any of the early priority groups will likely not have vaccine available to them until at least April. Please remain patient as health departments work within the required parameters to administer limited vaccine supplies.
