Also, on Friday Jackson County returned to the COVID-19 warning list published by the Illinois Department of Public Health (IDPH). The list is updated every Friday, based upon data from the prior Sunday-Saturday. Residents of counties on the warning list should be extra cautious when out in public, including practicing social distancing and wearing face coverings. In addition, people should stay home when symptomatic or while awaiting COVID-19 test results.

Jackson County had previously been on the IDPH warning list for two consecutive weeks in late July and early August. A map and information of each county's status can be found on the IDPH website at <https://www.dph.illinois.gov/countymetrics>.
